

Max Rottenkolber

Wednesday, 4 May 2016

1 Max Rottenkolber's personal website

Hi, I'm Max Rottenkolber and I develop software for a living. I started my professional career with a vocational education at a local software company. I then became a consultant for hire and have since worked with international clients such as Xstructure (<http://xstructure.com>). Currently I work with Snabb (<http://snabb.co>) on a new kind of Ethernet networking stack. I live in Bonn but enjoy to work remotely.

1.1 Open Source and Blogging

I conduct research in form of open source software. You can browse my publications on GitHub (<https://github.com/eugeneia?tab=repositories>). I also write a technical journal at my blog (blog/).

1.2 Contact

Feel free to send a mail to service@mr.gy (<mailto:service@mr.gy>). Please use PGP to sign and encrypt any confidential communication. You can get my public key from MIT's public key server (<http://pgp.mit.edu/pks/lookup?op=get&search=0x7C7F34CDCF4CDA75>) and Keybase (<https://keybase.io/mrottenkolber>).